Explanation

Education and Outreach/Awareness: FCER expanded a scientific study abroad curriculum to engage students in learning about science, peace, tropical ecology, conservation of the environment and forest's role in all of these making it available globally online. In addition, upon request FCER provided support to schools and individual children seeking to become engaged in learning about and supporting the forest. FCER conducted community outreach to raise awareness of issues relating to rainforests and global conservation including presentations on climate change, tropical ecology, deforestation, wildlife corridors and biodiversity to 642 students in 43 classrooms and 1,376 individual students and 1,346 adults were engaged in education efforts independent from these presentations. Ecotravel: FCER expanded a scientific study abroad curriculum to engage students in learning about science, peace, tropical ecology, conservation of the environment and forest's role and took 60 students and adults including 2 schools on scientific study trips. FCER continued this program in which it lead 4 trips total with 41 children and 19 adult in open and special arrangement trips to the forest where participants have an opportunity to experience the forest by staying at its field stations, learn about the rainforest through guided interpretive hikes and wildlife observation with experienced naturalists, and learn about Costa Rican history, culture, and cuisine.
